MEET THE INSTRUCTORS

Jennifer Daniels lives in Novinger, MO where she teaches basket weaving classes in the community. She has been weaving for almost 10 years and enjoys attending state weaving conventions to learn new techniques and designs. She has been an avid supporter of the Weekend of Weaving and has exhibited at Red Barn.

Linda Colton started weaving baskets almost 25 years ago with a group of teacher friends. Since her retirement over 10 years ago, she has continued to enjoy learning new techniques and teaching classes in addition to exhibiting her baskets in Kirkville and most recently, in Kansas City, where she now resides. Along with other weavers and supporters, she initiated the Weekend of Weaving six years ago and is proud that it has been well-received.

Pat Moore, from New Haven, MO, started weaving baskets in 1999 with some friends. She has taught at the vocational school in her community and currently teaches in her home and in Troy. Pat especially enjoys finding an old basket and recreating it to teach to her students. This will be her third year of teaching at the Weekend of Weaving and her beautiful baskets are highly rated by her students.

FRIDAY NOVEMBER 2

Priscilla

If you have mastered the basic weaves over/under and triple twine, then you are ready for a bit of a challenge. This basket is a "double wall", meaning that it has an interior and an exterior wall but a common base, and is lashed with waxed linen. Dimensions are 9" x 12" x 4 3/4" tall. Choose from burgandy, navy, or smoke with coordinating space dyed reed. (Instructor: Jennifer Daniels; Fee: $40.00) twining and round infinity wheels woven with round reed. Basket is finished with dyed reed on rim. All weavers. (Instructor: Pat Moore; Fee: $50.00)

The Nantucket

Basic over/under weaving and twining are used in this generously sized basket which is large enough to hold magazines, sewing projects, or toys for the grandchildren. Blue, red, green or tan color choices will be available for the ceramic handles and matching reed. Basket dimensions are 14x12x14 on a wooden base. All levels welcome. (Instructor: Jennifer Daniels; Fee is $45).

Elusive Basket

Woven on a round wooden grooved base, this basket includes weaving methods of twining and a special way of making the pattern that enhances the beauty of the sides of basket. Various shades of space-dyed reed will be available. In place of the traditional lashed rim, a picket fence rim will be used to finish basket. All levels. (Instructor: Linda Colton; Fee: $45.00)

Contrasting Carrier

Made with a unique rolling pin handle, this basket can be used in the kitchen or for a variety of other purposes.

Participants can bring their own special rolling pin or use one supplied by instructor. Some experience in weaving would be helpful, but all weavers welcome. (Instructor: Linda Colton; Fee $35 if supplying own pin, $45 if instructor provides.)

SATURDAY NOVEMBER 3

All in One

This basket begins on a oval ash base with attached handle and weaves up quickly. Space dyed reed is used for the accent braid that is easily twined into the center of the basket and wooden balls are added as feet to the bottom of the ash base. Dimensions are 10 x 9 x 10. All levels of experience should be able to weave this basket. (Instructor: Jennifer Daniels; Fee: $35.00)

Home Spun

This little cutie is for those who appreciate the "primitive" look. Woven on a 6" divided base, this basket stands 8 1/2 inches tall. The rim is held in place with homespun fabric. Set it on a desk to hold office supplies or hold kitchen utensils. Tie a piece of homespun on the front or rusty tin stars will be available to embellish your basket with. Red/Blue/Black color choice. Beginner Level. (Instructor: Jennifer Daniels; Fee: $25.00)
